Leadership in Changing Times

It is said that it is changing and challenging times that leadership most keenly felt and needed. It requires all leaders to develop not only a plan but to have a leadership strategy and approach that best facilitates the process of planning change and implementing new ideas and programs.

For some change is viewed an opportunity and a challenge that is taken on with a positive and even adoptive attitude. For other change is viewed as another mountain that must be climbed and it is particularly unwanted and resisted if there has already been a lot of change.

The key is to change management from a leadership perspective – having and transferring that vision and being keenly aware of all its short and long-term benefits. This workshop discusses the impact change in depth, selective vs. imposed change, the attraction of predictability. We'll also discuss why some people willingly look at change as something to accept and why others are hesitant and resist. Finally, we'll look at the seven import steps in leading people through change and as a bonus module we'll talk about keys to employee engagement.

Identifying, Refining and Adapting Your Leadership Style

So ...what kind of leader are you? It's generally accepted that there are four core leadership styles and each one has its own specific traits and characteristics. Autocratic – leadership based on strong single-minded control, Democratic – leadership that is based on engaging team members, shares control and creates a sense of belonging, Authoritative – balances leadership approach between autocratic, democratic, and Laissez-faire – a hands off leadership style that puts emphasis on competence in self-directed teams with little direct supervision.

But in today's changing workplace environment, leaders need to become more progressive in how they lead. They do not limit or box themselves into a single fixed leadership style or approach. They need to see themselves as Adaptive leaders – leaders that borrow from other leadership styles and when needed – modify their leadership approach to both better direct the tasks and team at hand. Finally, the best leaders strive to be Transformative leaders who are visionary and see their roles as “people developers.” By utilizing and executing a range of proven leadership methods seek to improve (transform) their teams into better and more efficient, connected, and cohesive teams able to move together and collaborate with the future in mind.

Leadership Through Conflict: Opportunities for Growth!

The upside of analyzing and resolving a conflict is that it can be a catalyst for both personal and organizational growth. This workshop attempts to better understand the dynamics of conflict and the vital role and opportunity that leadership plays in resolution. Progressive leaders learn to see conflict as a dialogue initiator and a process to define and sustain relationships. The end result is that leaders can then create a workplace environment in which conflict resolution becomes an employee-initiated process and to reinforce important leadership concepts that build stronger team-based workplaces. A Leader's Guide to Ending Gossip in The Workplace!

Who gossips to you, will gossip about you. – Turkish Proverb

There is nothing like gossip to generate interest and engage ears and tongues and yet today in workplaces all over Canada it continues to be a real problem.

Further to that, sociologists generally feel that social media has been a factor and is contributing and feeding the workplace bad habit of gossiping.

According to the Pew Research Center in the US, gossip is costing organizations and businesses alike, 2.2 billion dollars a year in lost productivity. I'm sure that here in Canada where gossip lives and thrives in every workplace that the financial and personal costs are a major concern ...especially in the non-profit sector where the daily mission is to put forth the maximum personnel effort and realize efficiency out of every dollar invested.

But there are other costs that also impact organizations on many levels...

- ... increased incidents of interpersonal conflict
- ... increased turnover of staff / loss of competent staff
- ... increased feelings of distrust of others
- ... decreased desire to work in team settings
- ... loss of collaboration between people / hostility towards team members
- ... increased feelings of frustration and powerlessness
- ... increased interventions by managers to resolve issues
- ... gossiping and victimization contributing to be people feeling unsafe at work
- ... distracting behaviours impacting quality of work and expected levels of service

Gossip has never yielded any positive good. If anything, it corrodes cultures, lowers morale and diminishes the workplace productivity and overall effectiveness.

It robs organizations of time – time better spent doing more worthwhile activities.
It is something we can all do without.

Our Mileage Policy

My rate for all travel will be 0.50 / km.

This travel rate will be in effect subject to change and periodic review.

Clients may be expected to arrange travel and accommodations for some engagements.

FINAL NOTE:

These fees are just guidelines to assist the client in estimating the budgeting for your speaking and training needs. For smaller non-profits and charities, we have willingly negotiated an honorarium that is specifically affordable to their needs and ability to pay.

Our Handout Policy

I have decided to follow the increasingly popular and practical method of making my presentation and seminar handouts available electronically. All handouts are now available from handouts@michaellewistraining.com.

Email me and I will provide you with a complete full colour handout.

Benefits...

- An ecologically sound and smart option.
- Handouts created as PDF files are easy to save and view on your screen or print.
- Handouts are easy to send and share with others.

More and more conferences and meetings have embraced digital files and I want to celebrate my 26 years in business by saving “trees” and offering clients a better system to share information. Hard copy handouts are still an available option by request.

Clients wishing handouts in advance for photocopying and inclusion in materials can request files.

Booking Information

I recommend that you book or reserve your preferred date(s) as far in advance as possible even before you have selected and finalized a topic(s). I do NOT require a deposit, nor do I insist on the signing of a contract. I do ask if you need to cancel an engagement to contact me as soon as possible and at least 14 days in advance of the engagement.

I will make every attempt to carefully watch for weather or travel issues and will advise accordingly with the client as the best course of action. Generally speaking, if the weather is undesirable or unadvisable for travel, then it could be the same for those attending your event and rescheduling might be the best and safest strategy for all concerned.
